Mrs. Payne Whitney's Touch Me Not Wins the Great American Stakes in Nose Finish

Broom Spun Close Second; Favorite Falls Near End

Rodriguez, on The Bohemian, Has Narrow Escape in Big Race; Exterminator Home First in Brookdale Handicap, Easily Defeating Cirrus

By W. J. Macbeth

Mrs. Payne Whitney, who owns the Greentree Stable, saw her great two-year-old colt Touch Me Not beat nine high class juveniles for the lion's share of the Great American Stakes, a five-furlongs dash out of the chute, at Aqueduct yesterday afternoon. Touch Me Not, which earlier in the season, while the horses were racing at Belmont Park, had been declared the best two-year-old of the year by that wizard trainer, Jimmy Rowe, just did manage to last long enough to win by the scantest possible nose from Harry Payne Whitney's Broom Spun.

It was very fortunate for Rodriguer that The Bohemian was at the extreme inside the real, when we say the extreme inside mear the roll, when he sprawded and fell. Eventually when he lost his footling, apparently from exhaustion, he slipped over to his left town who shot himself clear of the fallon arimal, brought up against one of the fence posts after rolling out of harm's way. He escaped with a severe shaking up. The Bohemian was cut a trifle around the nose, under the left shoulder and on the right hind pastern. Exterminator Proves Class

In the Brookdale Handicap Exterminator proved that he is practically invincible at his present form, for he picked up the 129 pounds alloted as if it were a feather, remained much closer to the pace than usual in the early frunning and came away just about as he pleased through the stretch. The chire-year-old Gladiator, which used himself up somewhat following the carly pace of Johnny Dundeo's light feighted War Mask, was lightly interligible with by the winner inside the quarter pole.
